West Valley Water District Recognized for Water Demand Reduction

Environmental stewardship is among West Valley Water District's (WVWD) core values. WVWD believes through dedication to preserving and enhancing the environment, meeting state and federal regulations and educating our customers and communities on the role and importance of conservation, that we can truly be good stewards of our planet.

That's why the WVWD board members are proud to announce that the District was recognized by San Bernardino Valley (SBV) for reducing water demand in the region, through SBV's Demand Management Incentive program.

Due to West Valley Water District's customer conservation efforts, not only did WVWD meet our goal, but the District exceeded it. WVWD is proud to partner with SBV to continue offering programs and incentives to our customers to once again exceed our conservation efforts this year.
